Re: In re Cathode Ray Tube (CRT) Antitrust Litigation, Case No. 07-5944 SC, MDL No. 1917 (N.D. Cal.): The Toshiba Defendants' Response To The IPPs' And DAPs' October 29, 2014 Motion To Compel

Dear Judge Walker:

On behalf of the Toshiba Defendants, I write in response to the October 29, 2014 motion to compel filed by the IPPs and DAPs (collectively, "Plaintiffs"). Your Honor should issue a report to Judge Conti that recommends that this motion be denied.

The Plaintiffs' motion is premised on their belief that the Toshiba Defendants somehow acted in bad faith when they only agreed that 3 of 94 documents identified by the Plaintiffs are business records within the meaning of Rule 803(6) of the Federal Rules of Evidence. The Plaintiffs are incorrect. The Toshiba Defendants acted in good faith in considering each and every one of the documents identified by the Plaintiffs, applying the standards embedded in Rule 803(6). The fact that the Toshiba Defendants would only agree that a few of these documents are Rule 803(6) business records is simply a reflection of the fact that the documents in question (all of which were selected by the Plaintiffs) did not meet the requirements of Rule 803(6). We are willing to continue to work with the Plaintiffs on stipulations concerning authenticity and admissibility, as this case gets closer to trial.

I. Background

As used by the Plaintiffs, the term "motion to compel" is really a misnomer. By their motion, the Plaintiffs do not seek an order directing the Toshiba Defendants to respond to any outstanding discovery request. Instead, the Plaintiffs seek an order directing the Toshiba Defendants "to: (a) engage in a good faith re-review of certain documents Toshiba agreed to consider; and (b) apply the business record exception under Rule 803(6) in a manner consistent with the way that Plaintiffs applied it when considering their own documents." Pl. Mot. at 1.

The agreement alluded to by the Plaintiffs is an October 10, 2014 stipulation and proposed order filed with the Court. Toshiba Att. 1. Per that stipulation, the Plaintiffs “will provide the Toshiba Defendants with a list of 94 documents produced by the Toshiba Defendants in this litigation by October 10, 2014.” Id. at 2. Similarly, the Toshiba Defendants “will provide the Plaintiffs with a list of 94 documents produced by the Plaintiffs in this litigation by October 10, 2014.” Id. The stipulation contains the following provision that is relevant to the current dispute: “The Toshiba Defendants will review the list provided by the Plaintiffs and inform the Plaintiffs by October 17, 2014 whether they will stipulate that any such documents are authentic and, separately, that any such documents are business records within the meaning of Rule 803(6) of the Federal Rules of Evidence.” Id. The Plaintiffs had a similar obligation with respect to the 94 documents identified by the Toshiba Defendants. Id. The stipulation contemplated the possibility of a motion to compel being filed, but not with respect to the parties’ agreement to review the 94 documents provided by the other side. Instead, by their stipulation, the parties agreed “to extend the deadline for the Plaintiffs to file a motion to compel relating to the Plaintiffs’ First Set of Requests for Admission, to the extent one is deemed necessary by Plaintiffs, to October 24, 2014.” Id. at 2-3.

The current dispute before Your Honor has its genesis in the Plaintiffs’ First Set of Requests for Admission. Toshiba Att. 2. By that document, the Plaintiffs listed 977 documents (some of which were produced by the Toshiba Defendants, others of which were not) and made seven requests for admission for each document: (1) whether each document is a true, correct, and genuine copy of the original; (2) whether each document is authentic; (3) whether the document was made at or near the time of the event reflected in the document; (4) whether the document was made by someone with knowledge of the contents or event reflected in the document; (5) whether the document was kept in the course of regularly conducted business; (6) whether the document was prepared in the regular course of business; and (7) whether the document satisfies Rule 803(6) of the Federal Rules of Evidence. Id. at Ex. A; id. at 4-5. Whether expressed as 977 separate requests for admissions or 6,839 separate requests for admissions (977 times 7), counsel for the Toshiba Defendants promptly informed counsel for the Plaintiffs that the Toshiba Defendants would not respond to the request for admissions because they were unduly burdensome, providing case support for this position. See Sommerfield v. City of Chicago, 251 F.R.D. 353, 354 (N.D. Ill. 2008) (noting that the Court excused the plaintiff from answering 698 numbered requests for admission as burdensome); Wigler v. Electronic Data Systems Corp., 108 F.R.D. 204, 207 (D. Md. 1985) (discussing requests for admission consisting of 1,664 questions: “The filing of such an unjustifiable number of requests lends itself at least to the appearance of harassment of the plaintiff.”).

The Plaintiffs then made a proposal. Rather than responding the First Set of Requests for Admission, the Plaintiffs would provide the Toshiba Defendants with a list of documents to see whether the Toshiba Defendants would agree that these documents are authentic and business records. During the negotiation process, it was never contemplated that the Toshiba Defendants would have to agree that all of the documents on the list provided by the Plaintiffs are authentic and business records. See Toshiba Att. 3 (email from IPP attorney Bob Gralewski: “We’re willing to take the anxiety out of the specific RFAs and permit the defendants to either stipulate or offer a declaration that the above documents (or some subset) are authentic and are business records, plain and simple.”) (emphasis added). The Toshiba Defendants agreed to the Plaintiffs’ proposal, provided that the Plaintiffs themselves would consider a list of documents provided by the Toshiba Defendants and indicate whether such documents are authentic and business records. The understanding between the Plaintiffs and the Toshiba Defendants is memorialized in the October 10, 2014 stipulation and proposed order filed with the Court. Toshiba Att. 1. By that document, the Toshiba Defendants (and the Plaintiffs) each agreed to consider the list of documents provided by the other side and indicate “whether” such documents are authentic and “are business records within the meaning of Rule 803(6) of the Federal Rules of Evidence.

On October 10, 2014, the parties exchanged their respective lists with each other. Toshiba Att. 4, 5. On October 22, 2014, the Toshiba Defendants responded to the Plaintiffs’ list. Att. 6. From October 22-24, 2014, most of the Plaintiffs responded to the list provided by the Toshiba Defendants. Att. 7. To date, however, Target and Viewsonic have not responded to the list provided by the Toshiba Defendants, even though they stipulated that they would provide a response.

In their response of October 22, 2014, the Toshiba Defendants offered to meet and confer with the Plaintiffs about this issue. That meet and confer was held on October 24, 2014. During the meet and confer, the Toshiba Defendants explained that they adhered to the requirements of Rule 803(6) of the Federal Rules of Evidence in deciding whether to agree that any individual document is a business record. The Toshiba Defendants also provided general reasons why certain of the 94 documents identified by the Plaintiffs could not be considered business records within the meaning of Rule 803(6) of the Federal Rules of Evidence.

II. Argument

Your Honor should issue a report that recommends that the Plaintiffs’ motion be denied for two reasons. First, there is no case or controversy concerning the gravamen of the Plaintiffs’ motion. Second, even if Your Honor were to assess whether the Toshiba Defendants appropriately refused to agree that certain documents are business records within the meaning of Rule 803(6) of the Federal Rules of Evidence, Your Honor should still recommend that the motion to compel be denied because the Toshiba Defendants properly adhered to the requirements of Rule 803(6) in determining which of the 94 documents identified by the Plaintiffs are business records within the meaning of that rule.

A. The Plaintiffs’ Motion Does Not Present A Justiciable Case Or Controversy

It is undisputed that a court may not issue an advisory opinion. At all times, there must exist a justiciable case or controversy before the court. See Net Connection Hayward, LLC v. City of Hayward, No. C 13-1212 SC, 2013 WL 3786635 (N. D. Cal. Aug. 15, 2014) (Conti, J.) (“There is no actual controversy on that matter, and for the Court to decide the issue now would be an impermissible advisory opinion.”).

In this instance, the Plaintiffs ask Your Honor to recommend that Judge Conti issue an impermissible advisory opinion. The Plaintiffs seek the following relief from Your Honor: “the Special Master should recommend that the Toshiba Defendants re-review the 94 documents provided by the IPPs and DAPs in good faith and in a manner consistent with the law.” Pl. Mot. at 2-3. The relief requested by the Plaintiffs, however, goes well beyond what the Toshiba Defendants agreed to do in the October 10, 2014 stipulation. By that stipulation, the Toshiba Defendants merely agreed that they “will review the list provided by the Plaintiffs and inform the Plaintiffs by October 17, 2014 whether they will stipulate that any such documents are authentic and, separately, that any such documents are business records within the meaning of Rule 803(6) of the Federal Rules of Evidence.” Toshiba Att. 1. The Toshiba Defendants have done precisely that. By their letter of October 22, 2014 (Toshiba Att. 5), the Toshiba Defendants identified which of the 94 documents they would stipulate are authentic and, separately, which of the 94 documents they would stipulate are business records within the meaning of Rule 803(6) of the Federal Rules of Evidence. The Toshiba Defendants have unquestionably complied with the October 10, 2014 stipulation.

The Plaintiffs’ motion to compel does not suggest that the Toshiba Defendants failed to do what they actually agreed to do in the stipulation (i.e., indicate whether they will agree the documents in questions are business records within the meaning of Rule 803(6)). Instead, the Plaintiffs seek an order directing the Toshiba Defendants to “apply the business record exception under Rule 803(6) in a manner consistent with the way that Plaintiffs applied it when considering their own documents.” Pl. Mot. at 1. The Plaintiffs’ motion seeks an advisory opinion because there was never any requirement in the stipulation that the Toshiba Defendants apply Rule 803(6) “in a manner consistent with the way that Plaintiffs applied it.” Thus, Your Honor should decline to rule upon this question.

B. Even If Your Honor Were To Consider The Reasons Why The Toshiba Defendants Declined To Stipulate That Certain Documents Were Rule 803(6) Business Records, Your Honor Should Still Recommend That The Plaintiffs’ Motion Be Denied

Even if Your Honor were inclined to consider the reasons why the Toshiba Defendants declined to stipulate that certain documents are business records within the meaning of rule 803(6) of the Federal Rules of Evidence, Your Honor should still recommend that the Plaintiffs’ motion be denied. In deciding whether to stipulate whether the documents identified by the Plaintiffs are business records, the Toshiba Defendant properly followed the requirements of Rule 803(6).

In its entirety, Rule 803(6) of the Federal Rules of Evidence provides as follows:

(6) Records of a Regularly Conducted Activity. A record of an act, event, condition, opinion, or diagnosis if:

- (A) the record was made at or near the time by — or from information transmitted by — someone with knowledge;
- (B) the record was kept in the course of a regularly conducted activity of a business, organization, occupation, or calling, whether or not for profit;
- (C) making the record was a regular practice of that activity;
- (D) all these conditions are shown by the testimony of the custodian or another qualified witness, or by a certification that complies with Rule 902(11) or (12) or with a statute permitting certification; and

(E) the opponent does not show that the source of information or the method or circumstances of preparation indicate a lack of trustworthiness.

Based on the plain language of this rule, several requirements must be met before a document can qualify for this exception to the rule against hearsay, including the following: (1) the document must be contemporaneous (“at or near the time”); (2) a knowledgeable person must have created the document (“someone with knowledge”); (3) the document must reflect a regularly conducted activity of the company (“the record was kept in the course of a regularly conducted activity of a business . . .”); (4) it was a regular practice to make the document itself (“making the record was a regular practice of that activity”); and (5) both the information contained in the document as well as the preparation of the document are trustworthy (“the opponent does not show that the source of information or the method or circumstances of preparation indicate a lack of trustworthiness”).

Most of the 94 documents identified by the Plaintiffs fail to satisfy one or more of these criteria. Some of the documents were not authored by a Toshiba employee or the author of the document is unknown (thus, not satisfying the “someone with knowledge” requirement). Other documents were isolated or unique (thus, not satisfying the requirement that “the record was kept in the course of a regularly conducted activity of a business”). For other documents, there was no indication that one of the Toshiba Defendants required the document to be maintained (thus, not satisfying the requirement that “making the record was a regular practice of that activity”). Aside from these issues, there were several documents on the Plaintiffs’ list that contained hearsay-within-hearsay. In this regard, Sana v. Hawaiian Cruises, Ltd., 181 F.3d 1041, 1045 (9th Cir. 1999) (one of the cases relied upon by the Plaintiffs in their motion to compel) notes that, “[f]or the document to be admissible, each layer of hearsay must satisfy an exception to the hearsay rule.”

In the motion to compel, the Plaintiffs argue that, by only agreeing that 3.1 percent of the 94 documents are business records, the Toshiba Defendants somehow acted in bad faith. Pl. Mot. at 2. However, as one court recently noted, the hearsay exception of Rule 803(6) is a “business records” exception, not a “business communications” exception. Versata Software, Inc. v. Internet Brands, Inc., No. 2:08-cv-313-WCB, 2012 WL 2595275, at *7 (E.D. Tex. July 5, 2012). The fact that a business produced a given document does not automatically convert that document into a Rule 803(6) business record. The two documents discussed by the Plaintiffs in their motion illustrate this point.

The first document (Plaintiff Ex. A) is an April 18, 2002 email from Yasuki Yamamoto to other Toshiba Corporation employees. The fact that the document in question is an email does nothing to suggest that it is a Rule 803(6) business record. See Monotype Crop. PC v. Int’l Typeface Corp., 43 F.3d 443, 450 (9th Cir. 1994) (affirming exclusion of email and discussing difference between emails and computer printouts of bookkeeping records: “E-mail is an ongoing electronic message and retrieval system whereas an electronic inventory recording system is a regular, systematic function of a bookkeeper prepared in the course of business.”).

There is no indication that this document “was kept in the course of a regularly conducted activity of a business” or that “making the record was a regular practice of that activity.” A separate issue concerns the fact that, in the email, Mr. Yamamoto conveys information that [REDACTED] — the [REDACTED] information is hearsay-within-hearsay. “Rule 803(6) does not cover records based on information obtained from an outsider because such persons have no business duty to report accurate information to the record preparer and the record therefore does not have the presumption of accuracy that statements made in the regular course of business have.” ADT Security Services v. Security One Int’l, Inc., No. 11-CV-5149 YGR, 2013 WL 4766401, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 5, 2013) (citation and internal quotation marks omitted). Consequently, the Toshiba Defendants were fully justified in refusing to agree that the April 18, 2002 email is a Rule 803(6) business record.

The second document (Plaintiff Ex. B) is a January 29, 2002 email from Michael Du to several individuals employed by various Toshiba entities. Again, the mere fact that it is an email does not suggest that this document is a business record. At a minimum, in order for an email to be considered a Rule 803(6) business record, there must exist a “business duty to make and maintain these E-mail messages.” United States v. Ferber, 966 F. Supp. 90, 98 (D. Mass. 1997). There is no indication that Mr. Du had any sort of business duty to make and maintain the January 29, 2002 email (or the other emails referred to by the Plaintiffs). Like the email involving Mr. Yamamoto, the email involving Mr. Du incorporates information that [REDACTED] (i.e., hearsay-within-hearsay). Those [REDACTED] entities had no business duty to report accurate information to Mr. Du. Even the Plaintiffs must acknowledge that Mr. Du [REDACTED]. Finally, Mr. Du was not even employed by a Toshiba Defendant. Instead, he was employed by Toshiba Electronics Taiwan Corp. Again, the Toshiba Defendants were fully justified in refusing to agree that this email is a Rule 803(6) business record.

According to the Plaintiffs, In re Japanese Electronic Products Antitrust Litig., 723 F.2d 238 (3rd Cir. 1983), rev’d, 475 U.S. 574 (1986), supports their arguments here. It does not. That case specifically recognized that hearsay-within-hearsay would not be considered a Rule 803(6) business record. Id. at 290 (“Undoubtedly what was said by others in attendance was hearsay as to the truth of what they said about events elsewhere.”). The only other case relied upon by the Plaintiffs is Sana v. Hawaiian Cruises, Inc., 181 F.3d 1041 (9th Cir. 1999), which reached a similar conclusion concerning hearsay. See id. at 1045 (“For the document to be admissible, each layer of hearsay must satisfy an exception to the hearsay rule.”).

The Plaintiffs suggest that it is “manifestly unfair” that they have stipulated that many of their documents are business records while the Toshiba Defendants have stipulated that only a few of their documents are business records. Pl. Mot. at 3. Thus, as alternative relief, they ask that they be permitted to strike their agreement that certain of their documents are business records. Your Honor should not grant this alternative relief. In preparing our list of 94 Plaintiff-produced documents, we considered the requirements of Rule 803(6) and only listed documents that, in our view, should satisfy the requirements of that rule. In contrast, in preparing their list of 94 Toshiba-produced documents, the Plaintiffs appear not to have given any consideration to the requirements of Rule 803(6). Accordingly, it is not unfair at all that the Plaintiffs have stipulated that many of their documents are business records while the Toshiba Defendants have stipulated that few of their own documents are business records. Your Honor should not disturb the bargain struck between the Toshiba Defendants and the Plaintiffs. In any event, Toshiba is committed to entering into appropriate stipulations with Plaintiffs on the authenticity and admissibility of documents — and thereby minimizing the burdens on the Court as well as on the parties — as this case moves closer towards trial.

III. Conclusion

For these reasons, Your Honor should issue a report that recommends that the Court deny the Plaintiffs' motion to compel.

Respectfully submitted,

Lucius B. Lau

STATE OF CALIFORNIA)
COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES) ss.

On August 1, 2014, I served the foregoing documents described as DIRECT ACTION PLAINTIFFS' AND INDIRECT ACTION PLAINTIFFS' FIRST SET OF REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION TO TOSHIBA CORPORATION; TOSHIBA AMERICA, INC.; TOSHIBA AMERICA CONSUMER PRODUCTS, L.L.C.; TOSHIBA AMERICA ELECTRONICS COMPONENTS, INC.; TOSHIBA AMERICA INFORMATION SYSTEMS, INC. on the interested parties in this action by placing a true and correct copy thereof enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed as follows:

I am "readily familiar" with this firm's practice of collection and processing correspondence for mailing. It is deposited with U.S. postal service on that same day in the ordinary course of business. I am aware that on motion of party served, service is presumed invalid if postal cancellation date or postage meter date is more than one day after date of deposit for mailing in affidavit.

Executed on August 1, 2014, at Los Angeles, California.

Gentlemen,

In advance of our calls, I wanted to preview our proposals:

1. Although you still might not be happy with the overall numbers, we've continued to work hard and at great pains have left some things on the cutting room floor and our new number of documents are: 199 for Hitachi, 213 for Toshiba, and 287 for SDI. When we talk I'll pitch why we should work with this number now and try our best to avoid motion practice.

2. We're willing to take the anxiety out of the specific RFAs and permit the defendants to either stipulate or offer a declaration that the above documents (or some subset) are authentic and are business records, plain and simple.

Talk soon.

Bob

Let me know your thoughts - and thank you very much for your willingness to discuss this further.

In re CRT Antitrust Litigation: Case No. 07-cv-5944 (N.D. Cal.): The Toshiba Defendants' Authentication Requests

Dear Mr. Lau:

We write in response to your letter dated October 10, 2014.

You inquired whether Sharp Electronics Corporation ("SEC") and Sharp Electronics Manufacturing Company of America, Inc. ("SEMA") (collectively, "Sharp") would admit the authenticity of documents you identified, and would separately admit that each document identified is a business record within the meaning of Federal Rule of Evidence 803(6). We respond as to each document below. Notwithstanding these responses, Sharp reserves all rights to object to the admissibility of these documents on any appropriate ground.

Exhibit 3614 (SHARP-CRT-00075759): This document is an authentic copy of a document produced by SEMA as contained in SEMA's files. Much of this document appears to have been written by individuals working at defendant Toshiba America Electronic Components, Inc., and Sharp has insufficient information or knowledge regarding the source, accuracy or purpose of this document or the information in it to admit or deny that it is a business record of Sharp within the meaning of Rule 803(6).

Exhibit 3619 (SHARP-CRT-00003283): This document is an authentic copy of a document produced by Sharp, and it is a business record of Sharp within the meaning of Rule 803(6).

Exhibit 3620 (SHARP-CRT-00212452): This document is an authentic copy of a document produced by SEMA as contained in SEMA's files. Sharp has insufficient information or knowledge regarding the source, accuracy or purpose of this document or the information in it to admit or deny that it is a business record of Sharp within the meaning of Rule 803(6).

Exhibit 3621 (SHARP-CRT-00002833): Sharp has insufficient information or knowledge regarding the source, accuracy or purpose of this document or the information in it to admit or deny that it is authentic or that it is a business record of Sharp within the meaning of Rule 803(6).

Exhibit 4759 (SHARP-CRT-00076058): This document is an authentic copy of a document produced by Sharp, and it is a business record of Sharp within the meaning of Rule 803(6).

Exhibit 4763 (SHARP-CRT-00208901): This document is an authentic copy of a document produced by SEMA as contained in SEMA's files. Sharp has insufficient information or knowledge regarding the source, accuracy or purpose of this document or the information in it to admit or deny that it is a business record of Sharp within the meaning of Rule 803(6).

Exhibit 4770 (SHARP-CRT-00003913): This document is an authentic copy of a document produced by Sharp, and it is a business record of Sharp within the meaning of Rule 803(6).

Exhibit 4771 (SHARP-CRT-00212443): This document is an authentic copy of a document produced by SEMA as contained in SEMA's files. This document appears to have been created by defendant Toshiba America Electronic Components, Inc., and Sharp has insufficient information or knowledge regarding the source, accuracy or purpose of this document or the information in it to admit or deny that it is a business record of Sharp within the meaning of Rule 803(6).

Exhibit 4772 (MTPD-0422283): This document was produced by defendant MT Picture Display Co., Ltd., not by Sharp. Sharp has insufficient information or knowledge regarding the source, accuracy or purpose of this document or the

Re: In re Cathode Ray Tube (CRT) Antitrust Litigation, MDL No. 1917 (N.D. Cal.): The Toshiba Defendants' Authentication Requests

Dear Mr. Lau:

I write in response to your letter dated October 10, 2014, regarding the Toshiba Defendants' authentication requests.

Subject to the terms of the parties' Stipulation entered October 10, 2014, Costco will admit that the documents Bates-stamped CostcoCRT_000099413-4 and CostcoCRT_000001314 are: (1) authentic, and (2) business records within the meaning of Federal Rule of Evidence 803(6).

Notwithstanding this letter, Costco reserves its right to challenge the admissibility of these documents on all other grounds provided for by the Federal Rules of Evidence including, but not limited to, Rules 401, 402, and 403.

Best regards,

Re: In re Cathode Ray Tube (CRT) Antitrust Litig., MDL 1917

Dear Albie:

After further review, we are supplementing our list of documents that Sears and Kmart admit to be authentic and to be business records under the Federal Rules of Evidence.

In addition to the documents listed in my October 22, 2014 Letter, Sears and Kmart admit that the following documents, as identified by their beginning and ending Bates numbers, are authentic under the Federal Rules of Evidence:

BEG BATES	END BATES	DEPO. EX. NO.
SRSCRTED00295328	SRSCRTED00295330	3979
SEAR_CRT00008931	SEAR_CRT00008931	4053
SRSCRTED00295726	SRSCRTED00295753	4057
SRSCRTED00078068	SRSCRTED00078069	4058
SRSCRTED00272145	SRSCRTED00272145	6293

Also, along with the documents listed in the October 22, 2014 Letter, Sears and Kmart admit that the following documents, as identified by their beginning and ending Bates numbers, are business records under Rule 803(6) of the Federal Rules of Evidence:

BEG BATES	END BATES	DEPO. EX. NO.
SEAR_CRT00014643	SEAR_CRT00014645	3977
SRSCRTED00295327	SRSCRTED00295330	3979
SEAR_CRT00008929	SEAR_CRT00008931	4053
SRSCRTED00295725	SRSCRTED00295754	4057
SRSCRTED00078067	SRSCRTED00078069	4058
